

Cycle route near Gedser Odde, 20 km

- Start at Gedser Church, which dates back to 1915.
- Ride along Skolegade to The Black Museum, where you will discover exhibitions of minerals, fossils, amber containing insects and much more besides.
- Back to the church along Langgade and Allévej to the Water tower on Danmarksgade with its magnificent view from the top. The Water tower was built in 1912.
- At the end of Danmarksvej to the left is Den gamle Købmandsgaard (the old grocery store) where some tourist information is available. The store also contains a small museum, handicraft products and applied art.
- From here ride along Strandvej out to Svinehave Voldsted (fortifications), where Gedser Castle (originally Gedser Estate) once stood. It was demolished around the year 1600.
- Ride back around the Water tower, continue across Langgade and Gedser Landevej out along Jernbanevejen to the railway museum "Gedser Remise" (engine shed).
- A little further out towards the Baltic Sea is Gedser Station, which was Denmark's port to the south until the establishment of the Fugleflugts line in 1963.
- Ride along the harbour and follow the coast out past the lighthouse to Sydstenen, which marks Denmark's most southerly point.
- Ride on across Poststien (post trail) opposite the lighthouse to Birkemose and follow the Falster Rundt signs by Salimorvej.
- Farther to Gedesby Church, where inside the gate to churchyard you will find a water level stone that shows how high the water rose during the flood in 1872.
- Follow Gammelgade around to Gedesby Mill from 1911, which has been restored and opens during the summer.
- Just before Gedser Landevej there is a cycle path running under the road.
- On the other side of the highway follow Korsagervej out to the beach and further along the coast to the marina. Here you can ride to the left across the railway track and the highway to the cycle path behind the Fire Station and come out onto Strandvej by Den Gamle Købmandsgaard (the old grocery store).
